One can readily see, right from the start that there must be a great foot-ball somewhere, because of all the crowds, band parades, and excitement in general. A trickster² cat was getting anickel apiece to throw mice over the high fence with his opera hat. Then the great sight was a college boy elephant, all toggged up in his college colors, hopping along the way. A friendly cat tries to help him over the fence, but the big lummoxtore down the whole thing and spoiled the grand stand.

The great game was to be the final clash between Kid Noah and his boys from the ark, v.s. the fierce jungle team, headed by Strongfort Gorilla. Both teams showed up well in their practice scrimmages.

The Gorillas had the first kick off, and old Kid Noah doubled himself up for the catch, then later the Gorilla mistakes Noah for the ball and kicks him for a goal. Two of Strongforts men take the ball out and fill it up with sand. When Kid Noah kicks it up he lands on his vertabra, this makes him sore, so he picks it up and throws it. Strongfort decides to make a catch, but the great weight of the ball drives him thru the ground. He climbs out and is madder than thunder and chases Noah's team. Even at sundown that day Noah's boys were running for dear life. Aesop says:—"He who fights and runs away will live to fight another day".
